• Aroma: jammy bramble, complex, with mulberry top-notes

• Flavor: Easily conjures a collection of cane fruits because it's unhampered by excess wood or alcohol. Well-balanced, with a long finish that can hint of vanilla and wild mushroom.

• Notes: Another successful vintage blended from Dry Creek Valley fruit by Columbus wine entrepreneur Scott Zanon, who has a passion for the great California zinfandels of the pre-Gargantuan era. In some ways a big wine, but not one that assaults the senses. A great choice for red meats, roasts, tomato-flavored dishes and aged cheeses, this complete zin can also be enjoyed on its own.
